UN TOUR INÉDIT EN 2024 !

The 2024 edition of the Tour des Ports de la Manche promises to be exceptional. It is already possible to say that it will be unique since the start of the event will be given from Jersey. Competitors will thus have the opportunity to get into shape by reaching the Channel Island.

On the other hand, what does not change is the very strong spirit of conviviality which has characterized the race since its origin. Proof of this is the large number of participants who come for the first time and wish to repeat the experience.

Another strong point of the Channel Ports Tour: it allows you to discover the diversity of the reception capacities of our territory, while exploring the very wide variety of development basins off our coasts. Any sailor who knows the Channel will affirm it forcefully: here, you never get bored. In the north, west and east, weather and navigation conditions can vary very quickly. And of course, tidal changes must be taken into consideration.

Saint-Hélier to Jersey for the departure, then Granville, Barneville-Carteret, Saint-Peter-Port to Guernsey, Diélette, Cherbourg-en-Cotentin and final arrival in Saint-Vaast-la-Hougue: the hundred crews and the some 650 sailors will benefit from a playground commensurate with the fame of the race.

Coming from all over the west of France, and sometimes even across the Channel, they met from July 7 to 12 to contribute, once again, to the success of the event.

The Department is pleased to associate its name with this unmissable sailing event in France.

MARITIME DESTINATION

The sea gave it its name, the ocean governs its climate and, wherever you are on the territory, the shore is never very far... This peninsula is like a granite pier, stirred by the sea on all sides. Its coastline is distinguished by the variety of its 355 km of preserved coastline as well as by its navigation conditions and its rich maritime heritage.

Preserved coastlines and equipped ports

The Channel coastline offers a wide range of attractive landscapes. Jagged cliffs, fine sand dunes, capes and harbours, islands, ports and seaside resorts punctuate it, from the Baie des Veys and Utah Beach, to Mont-Saint-Michel, via the North Cotentin. If the coastline is wild and authentic, it is no less equipped for pleasure. With its 19 ports, the Manche department has 6,899 pleasure places in ports or anchorage areas. It alone represents almost half of Normandy's reception capacity (14,164 places in ports or anchorage areas).

Divided between:

- 4,789 places in ports with basins
- 1,350 places in the stranding ports including 269 on pontoons
- 760 anchorages, outside ports

Thanks to its temperate climate, the quality and extent of its beaches, the orientation of its coasts or even the characteristics of the wind, the Channel is conducive to the practice of nautical and sailing activities, as numerous as they are varied: sea kayaking, kitesurfing, diving, rowing, wakeboarding, sailing, coasting, paragliding, etc.

The Channel is also the scene of the highest tides in Europe, something to delight fishermen on foot!

Seaside tourism

Seaside resorts are anchorages where it is good to stay. Their large beaches of blond sand invite you to escape and the restaurants facing the horizon, sublimate fish and seafood. Seaside resorts such as Agon-Coutainville or Montmartin-sur-Mer and the Côte des Isles sector, labeled "Famille plus", offer many activities for children.

A cultural heritage

Finally, the Channel is rich in a sailing heritage and a great maritime tradition where sailors and fishermen, sailboats and traditional sails tell the history of a territory. Stopping off on our coasts is an opportunity to delve into a history that unites the shores. Viking heritage, naval battle (La Hougue), Newfoundland fishing campaigns, transatlantic epic, ambushed corsairs or even the coasts which allowed the return of freedom to Europe in 1944 (Utah Beach)... such is the past which is imprinted on our coastline.

A FORMIDABLE CHALLENGE

NAUTICAL AND HUMAN

There are sailors, sailboats, ports. The taste for adventure, the taste for sea spray, for trips on board. There is sharing the effort, sharing the celebration, reunions after sport.

The Tour des Ports de la Manche is a regatta organized every year in July, which connects different marinas in the Channel.

An exceptional race which is one of the major nautical events of the summer, a unique navigation basin and a fantastic course where 100 crews, 650 sailors meet, in an extraordinary atmosphere. It is the most great Normandy sailing race and one of the biggest French cruise races.
